Wednesday, June 24, 2015
11:00am-1:00pm

Eastern Massachusetts is home to over 100 species of edible wild plants, some of which are more nutritious and/or flavorful than their cultivated counterparts. Join expert forager Russ Cohen, author of Wild Plants I have Known...and Eaten, on a two-hour ramble in east Lexington to learn about at least eighteen species of edible wild plants. Keys to the identification of each species will be provided, along with info on edible portion(s), season(s) of availability and preparation methods, as well as general guidelines for safe and environmentally responsible foraging.

There will be a board meeting from 10-11am (outside). Everyone is welcome to attend.
